BEFORE IT IS BORN.

Some Startling Statements of General Interest!

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, on being asked when the training of a child should begin, replied, "A hundred days before it is born."
Are we to infer from this that this generation is responsible for the condition of the race a hundred years from now?
Is this wonderful generation the natural result of the proper diet and medicines of a hundred years ago? It is conceded in other lands that most of the wonderful discoveries of the world in this century have come from this country. Our ancestors were reared in log cabins, and suffered hardships and trials.
But they lived and enjoyed health to a ripe old age. The women of those days were of a sturdy physique without apparent fatigue that would startle those of the present age.

Why was it?
One of the proprietors of the popular remedy known as Warner's Safe Cure, has been faithfully investigating the cause, and has called to his aid scientists as well as medical men, impressing upon them the fact that there cannot be an effect without a cause. This investigation disclosed the fact that in the olden times simple remedies were administered, compounded of herbs and roots, which were gathered and stored in the lofts of the log cabins, and when sickness came on, these remedies from nature's laboratory, were used with the best effects.

What were these remedies? What were they used for? After untiring and diligent search they have obtained the formulas so generally used for various disorders.
Now the question is, how will the olden time preparations affect the people of the age, who have been treated, under modern medical schools and codes, with poisonous and injurious drugs. This test has been carefully pursued until they are convinced that the preparation they now call Warner's Log Cabin Remedies are what our much abused systems require.

Among them is what is known as Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, and they candidly announce that they do not consider the Sarsaparilla of so much value in itself as it is in the combination of the various ingredients which together work marvelously upon the system. They also have prepared for other diseases, such as "Warner's Log Cabin Cough and Consumption Remedy," "Log Cabin Hops and Buchu Remedy," "Warner's Log Cabin Scapline" for the hair. They have a cure for the common disease of catarrh, which they give the name of "Log Cabin Rose Cream." Also a "Log Cabin Plaster," which they are confident will supplant all others, and a Liver Pill, to be used separately or in connection with the other remedies.

We hope that the public will not be disappointed in these remedies but will reap a benefit from their investigations, and that the proprietors will not be embarrassed in their introduction by dealers trying to substitute remedies that have been so famous to the public for our own. This line of remedies will be used instead of others. Insist upon your druggist getting them for you if he hasn't them yet in stock, and we are confident that these new remedies will receive approbation at our readers' hands, as the founders have used every care in their preparation.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly
For December.

France has always been a land of intrigue, and the recent events, which shake the present Government, bring forward General Boulanger, whom they were scheming to suppress. The sketch by W. H. Gladell, in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for December, gives all needed information of this "Coming Man." W. H. Gladell pictures for "Central Lake Superior," which, after sleeping for two centuries in the State where French pioneers found it, has now awakened like a giant, and started into the full day of American activity. An article on "Edwin Forrest, his Art and Manhood," will revive recollections of an actor who once excited the greatest interest in this country, and make him known to younger generations. In "The Evolution of Gaming," Charles Bacon gives the term a wider scope than usual. "Seal-Hunting on the Coast of Labrador" is full of interest to those who wear the fur and those who do not. The gossipy traveler, Ruthven, takes us through "Paris in Miniature," that is, Brussels; while the accomplished Dr. A. H. Guernsey tells the tale of "Charles V., Emperor of Germany and King of Spain." There is, also, a scientific account of the "Magnetic Mirror of Japan," with a host of clever stories by D. Ker, Rachel Carow, W. Seton, Fanny Aymar Mathews, and other well-known writers—all highly readable, touching the number gleams with fine pictures, from the colored plate to the last page. "Prince Lucifer," increases in power and effective interest.

CROFTON.

CROFTON, Ky., Nov. 27.—The town was thronged with people yesterday notwithstanding the rain, and our merchants did a good business.
Just as we expected the rain came too early for comfort, and it continued too long for others. Oh, how hard it would be to change the weather to suit everybody.
An enjoyable sociable was given at the residence of Mr. Chas. M. Gray Thursday evening by the young ladies of the town.
Miss Mattie Johnson visited her parents in your city Friday, accompanied by Miss Bessie Hancock.
The personal property of Thos. R. Stevens, deceased, was sold yesterday at his late residence, near Macedonia church, to the highest bidder and every article brought full value.
D. G. Wiley, of your city, came down yesterday prospecting, as we presume, for tobacco.
Joe P. Bourland is reported to be improved some since the last operation.
It is reported that Prof. S. H. Rogers, of Ozark, Mo., will return here soon and take charge of a spring school at the common school house. It will be remembered that he had charge of the Crofton Academy a few years ago and the patrons of his school were well pleased with his work and his many friends will gladly welcome him back.
Willie Johnson has entered the Crofton Academy.
John H. Myers has moved into his new residence on Princeton street.
The anti-prohibitionists of Atlanta argued that prohibition did not prohibit. The objection they raise to it here is that it does prohibit. How are we to know what they want? Many families here enjoyed a Thanksgiving turkey.

The Postmaster at Lady Lake Fla.

When a man has been snatched, as it were, from the very jaws of death, and given a new lease of healthy life by means of a simple remedy, it is natural for him to be enthusiastic in the praise of the means which delivered him from deadly peril and in his gladness of heart he is anxious to let the world participate in his joy, and he will spread the "good news" in order that others, who may be in similar peril, may be restored to life and renewed health by employing the same means which gave him the victory. This again exemplified in the following letter which the Swift Specific Company have received from Mr. B. H. Byrd, who is the postmaster at Lady Lake, Sumter county, Florida, as well as a leading merchant of that place. Under date of May 4, 1887, he writes:

Gentlemen—Allow me to congratulate and return thanks for the wonderful success your S. S. S. has provided in my case. You remember about a year ago I wrote you in reference to my case. I was treated by three skillful physicians, but with no relief. I suffered a great deal of uneasiness, besides a great deal of pain. I must say that the contents of one dozen bottles of S. S. S. has almost removed a cancer from my face, which no doubt would have hurried me to my grave.
I shall always keep a good supply in my store, and urge the sale of the same. I do think it wonderful and has no equal. I am yours truly,
B. H. Byrd.

NORTH CHRISTIAN.

MACEDONIA, Ky., Nov. 23.—Mr. Martin has moved his saw mill to a point on Trade Water about 5 miles below Dawson.
The members of the M. E. Church are moving Wood's chapel from its original site to a point near Mr. M. A. Guthrie's near this place a distance of about 5 miles.
MARTIN. Trotter-Batson: At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. O'neal on Sunday the 20th inst., Mr. Hugh Trotter to Mrs. Annie Watson, Ed. Jno. Davis officiating.

Mr. Jones, the accommodating miller at McKnight's mill, died very suddenly last Friday. He only survived his attack of pneumonia and typhoid fever about four days. He was a consistent member of the Christian church and a worthy citizen. He leaves a wife and large family of children with a host of friends to mourn his death.

While some teamsters engaged in moving Mr. Martin's saw mill were camped near Dawson one of the party by the name of Harris got on the outside of too much oil of gladness and hollered till his jaws were dislocated and his countenance supporting he had fallen asleep did not discover his condition until morning. When they went to get him up for breakfast he was unable to stand. By some accident he made them understand that something was wrong. He was taken to a house, a physician was called who reset his jaw and he was sent home in a buggy. Sam Croft was in the wood and says he drank all he wanted of the stuff and pronounced it of non-effect. But perhaps Sam had lost sight of the fact that Dawson was a dry town and in looking for a genuine drink, failed to recognize the effect when it came upon him.

MACEDONIA, Ky., Nov. 25.—The rain that has been falling here for two days and a half has brought a great relief to the people of this section, and some of our citizens have been obliged to haul water for from one to three miles and not only for family use but stock water also, but our wells, cisterns and ponds have been replenished and after two days rain the small creeks and brooks began to fill up. So we have a hope that the water famine is over for the present, and the forest fires have been effectually extinguished at last. Considering the long duration of the fire, the damage is comparatively light excepting the damage to growing timber which is scarcely considered in this section of country. Along the Caldwell county line west of this place the fire raged with the flames which they subdued after about two days with but little damage. Mr. J. S. Robinson had a few panels of fence burned, and Andy Ingles had an old tobacco barn burned down. In the Mt. Carmel neighborhood the fire raged furiously for several days and it was with great difficulty that the people kept it from their farms. We could not learn the extent of the damage but suppose the fire was confined to the forest and did but little damage to fencing and buildings. Some 3 or 4 miles east of this place along the Trade Water bottoms the fire followed the track of the cyclone of several years ago feasting upon the ruins of the forest for three weeks. Mr. T. T. McKnight lost about 500 panels of fence and a number of loose rails, we hear of no other serious damage being done in that direction. Mr. Jas. Reed of the vicinity of Pleasant Grove church in Caldwell county had his residence destroyed by fire on last Sunday night; it is supposed that sparks escaped through some defect in the chimney igniting above the upper floor. The family were sleeping on the first floor and did not discover the fire until it was beyond any control. We learn that considerable of the household goods were consumed with the building.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "I was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and now on my third bottle, and am able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."
Jesse Middlewirth, Decatur, says: "I had it in my lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption would have died of Lung Trouble. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. For sale by Harry B. Garner, City Pharmacy.

SENSIBLE FOOLING.

How a Boston Man Got the Sort of Vacation He Wanted.
I heard in a down-town office a tale which recalls Hawthorne's story of the man who went out for a walk one evening after saying good-by to his wife, and did not return for twenty years, which he spent in a house on the adjoining street. It seems that a citizen of Boston, whose name, if I should give it, would be recognized at once by many of my readers, found himself last spring in a very worn and nervous condition. It seemed to be absolutely necessary that he should go somewhere where it would be impossible for letters or telegrams of business to annoy him. The family physician suggested a trip to Europe, and his wife, professing her willingness to stay at home and look after the large family of children, the merchant, for such he was, apparently acquiesced. He stipulated that no one should see him, and that no letters should be expected from him, but instead, he promised to send a "cablegram," twice a week to his wife. The fact was that he had a horror of the sea voyage, and had not the courage to make a long and tedious journey, and he would never have been allowed to do so under ordinary circumstances—the village in a northern New England region where his childhood was spent. However, he engaged passage in a White Star steamer, and after an arduous journey to reach his wife and children, started for New York. He stayed in that city just long enough to make sure that his name was on the passenger list of the steamship, and to arrange for a series of half-weekly "cablegrams" from Liverpool, London, Paris, Lucerna, etc., to his wife, and departed for the country.

The trip was certainly a cruel one, but the man's mental condition was so morbid and perverted that I think he must be held partly excusable. Some admiration is also excited by the neatness with which the plan was carried out. Prayers were daily offered in an Episcopal Church for "a person gone to sea"; his friends noted with satisfaction the quick arrival of the steamer in which he was supposed to have sailed, and the telegrams that his wife received every few days, announcing his continued improvement in health, were a great source of satisfaction to her. In fact, however, her husband was fastening under an assumed name a little tavern in his native village. He bought a horse, rode about the country, reviving old recollections, and breathing in rest and strength from the pure mountain air.

The denouement was, of course, the most difficult part of the affair. He had intended, at first to keep up the delusion to the very end, and ostensibly returned from the foreign tour laden with European presents, purchased in New York. But his nerves recovered their wonted tone, and his thoughts began to be less engrossed with himself, the instinct of honesty reassured itself, and he determined to make a full confession. He had kept informed by some means of the whereabouts and condition of his wife and children, and accordingly he was able to surprise them one day by riding calmly into the seaside village where they were staying, and in the bosom of his family. A good deal of explanation was necessary, and there was some shame on one side and wounded feelings on the other; but upon the principle that "all's well that ends well," the affair was amicably settled.—Boston Post.

Omaha is making a strong effort to get the Republican National Convention next year.

The experts who have examined the mental condition of Ex-Senator Jones pronounce him insane.

The wife of Frederick Surecamp, of Seymour, Ind., gave birth to three girl babies on the 27th ult. None of them got away.

The announcement was made this week that President Grey would tender his resignation as President of France, yesterday.

The New York Star, which undertook some months ago to raise a Grant Monument Fund of $250,000, has succeeded in raising all but $17,350 of the amount.

Caucuses will be held to-morrow by both parties to nominate officers for the incoming Congress. The Democrats will organize the House and the Republicans the Senate.

Herr Most, the New York Anarchist, has been convicted of making violent speeches and exciting lawlessness. The penalty, which will be fine and imprisonment, has not yet been fixed.

Mrs. St. John, who lectured in this State, is not the wife of the Kansas ex-Governor, but her husband is a preacher and a cousin of the late Prohibition candidate for the Presidency.

The Western Union Telegraph Company, which fears that Congress will undertake to regulate its charges, has reduced its rates from 20 to 33 per cent. The new schedule went into effect on the 1st inst.

Riddleberger's vote will elect the President of the Senate and as he will vote for neither Sherman nor Edmunds, the chances are that Ingalls will retain the post of honor which he has held during vacation.

Imported goods come high and the Plymouth Church of Brooklyn is finding it out. Rev. Dr. Parker, of London, who came over to preach Mr. Beecher's funeral oration for $7000, has a service and there is a good deal of talk kicking at the bill.

The burning of about 20,000 bales of cotton in the recent fire at Memphis and Little Rock has caused a perceptible increase in the price of that staple. Speculators will realize most of the profit, as was the case when tobacco advanced last summer.

A cowboy Congressman named Martin, who represents Reagan's old district, arrived in Washington last week fresh from Texas and came very near nipping his Congressional career in the bud by blowing out the gas in his room at a hotel. He had already lost consciousness when discovered.

The late cold spell was general and our weather was not a circumstance to what was experienced further north. Ft. Buford, the coldest place in the United States, registered 28 degrees below zero Sunday night and the Mississippi river was closed as far down as Lacrosse, Wis., the mercury being 20 degrees below at that point.

The municipal election of Louisville will come off next Tuesday. The Mayor's race is a triangular fight between three independent candidates. Two of them—Hoke and Jacob—are Democrats, which will in all probability result in the election of Avery, the third candidate. He is a Mugwump who voted for Cleveland, but claims to be a Republican.

The blood-curdling news comes from Washington that the horses attached to Mrs. Cleveland's carriage slipped and fell on the pavement one day this week. While the horses were getting upon their feet again, "Mrs. Cleveland sat quiet and unconcerned, exhibiting neither fear nor apprehension." A woman who could pass through such an ordeal as this without fainting is nothing less than a genuine heroine. It was awful.

Judge J. D. White, of Ballard county, and Hon. W. M. Reed, of Marshall county, are mentioned as probable Congressional candidates in the first district. The latter is at present a member of the Legislature and a candidate for Speaker. Congressmen Stone will be a candidate for re-election, and the Messenger is still for him—Owensboro Messenger. We have heard the name of Hon. Jas. B. Garnett, of Trigg county, also suggested in the same connection.

The editor of the Stanford Interior Journal is becoming alarmed at the headway the women are making in their reformatory work and gives voice to this emphatic protest:

"The Women's Christian Temperance Union, not content with shutting off the whisky supply and resolving against the use of tobacco, actually went to take away the last thing in life worth living for—that of looking upon their lovely forms. The convention at Nashville resolved that the low neck dress must go and that every effort must be made to hide the voluptuousness with which a kind nature has favored them. If this thing keeps on we may soon expect to hear of a resolution against women marrying men or having anything to do with them whatever."

A Rich Thing for Editors.

"Editors are usually wealthy," the man with the sample-case remarked. "Yes," I said, "They are familiar with all the slang and business phrase of the money market; they write about millions as ordinary men talk about dollars; they build railroads; they organize mining and magnificent transportation companies, with fabulous capital; they declare war without consulting each other; and if all the banks in America were to fail to-morrow they wouldn't be a cent poorer than they are to-day. Yes, they are rich. They associate with the moneyed classes; they sit down at the table with kings, sometimes, in happier, luckier moments, with aces; if you want to borrow money, go to the editor; he will turn to his advertising columns and tell you where you can borrow it. If you have money to loan, rather than see you suffer he will borrow it himself. Rich? He knows the secret of the money market; he divulges the plans and schemes of the heavy operators to the people; he roars himself louder than the bulls; and grows among the bears; his voice is heard in the temples of the money-changers, asking for money; he warbles his little roundelay out on the curbstone, in a melancholy minor key, when he does not get it. Oh, yes, editors are rich. When you want to spend all the money you have in this wide world, go to your lawyer; when you want something done for nothing, go to your newspaper office." I paused, and an impressive, profound silence filled the car like a dream of peace. I looked around upon my audience. It was asleep.—Bob Burdette.

St. John on High License.

"Speaking of Kansas," said the ex-governor, "it is getting along nicely, and under the present law all men possessed with the intelligence of a fresh-water clam to investigate the matter and willing to be fair must admit that prohibition when compared with any other system dealing with the liquor traffic is a grand success. Go through that beautiful state and you will now find that where once the busy hum of the saloon-keeper's mallet tapping a fresh keg was heard throughout the land it has given place to more legitimate pursuits. Its people are prosperous, happy, industrious and contented. The clear-eyed 'bum' is a curiosity in Kansas, and is fast becoming extinct. The new Murray law has filled homes with happiness and mothers and children with a love almost akin to veneration. Talk to me of high license! Why, Illinois is a high-license state; compare it with Kansas. Look at the prosperity of our little country towns and then look at the rum-ridden towns of Illinois. High license is a fraud. It is a fraud on the saloon-keeper, because he is compelled to pay a premium for doing a business which the law says is as legitimate as that of the grocer or shoe merchant, who pays no premium. As a temperance measure high license has not nor never will decrease in temperance."—Ex.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of the SOUTH KENTUCKIAN will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength, by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The Proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars, for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75 Cts.

Catarrh Cure.

The following from the Owensboro Messenger is an expression of opinion from a Kentucky editor who has been successful in his profession: "A Louisville editor asserts that over 2,000 men connected with journalism in Kentucky during the past ten years have come very near starving to death. There has been a good deal of press for some time, but there is nothing significant in it. Journalism is as good a field for legitimate money-making as any of the ordinary avenues of trade. If country journalism is not always remunerative, it is more the fault of the alleged journalist than anybody else. In every avocation we see men barely eking out an existence, but, except in rare cases, the cause may be traced to the lack of capacity of the man himself. Just so in journalism. A briefcase young lawyer, for instance, with plenty of book-learning, despairing of a self-sustaining income from his practice, or with a political ambition, concludes to embark in the newspaper business. He writes what he considers a brilliant editorial, and waits for the applause of his readers and to see it copied and commented upon by his exchanges. Perhaps he is gratified, and perhaps he is not. But unless he has a true instinct of what is news, practical business ideas, and gives close attention to the vexatious little details, to which he may have an aversion, there is no success for him. An intelligent conception of the requirements of his profession, chief of which is eternal vigilance, is the price of success in journalism, and those who fail are either indolent, profligate or stupid."

In a period of 136 years 632 theaters have been destroyed by fire and 6,573 persons lost their lives thereby. The first fire in a theater in this country accompanied by great loss of life occurred at Richmond, Va., in December, 1811, and a large number perished, including the governor and many leading people of the old dominion. The most disastrous theatre fire of modern times was that at Canton, in 1845, when 6,170 persons are said to have perished. At the burning of the Ring theatre, Vienna, Dec. 8, 1881, 794 lives were lost. On Dec. 5, 1876, the Brooklyn theatre was burned and 294 persons were killed, and on May 24, of this year, the Opera Comique, Paris, was destroyed, with an unknown loss of life, supposed, however, to reach 200. These have been among the greatest disasters of this class within recent years, and in nearly if not all cases the chief loss of life seems to have been caused by the blocking up of stairways and corridors by panicking people.—Ex.

A vertical black and white photograph of a single rose stem. The stem is dark and runs vertically through the center of the frame. It features two prominent thorns: one near the top and one further down. At the very top of the stem is a single, tightly closed rose bud. The background is a light, textured surface, possibly paper or fabric, with some subtle variations in tone and texture.
